

Abstract

Radar sensor for motor vehicles, having a transmitter and receiver unit (16, 20, 22) whose directional characteristic has multiple lobes (28, 30), at least one of which (28) is directed parallel to the roadway surface (12), at least one other lobe (30) being directed obliquely to the roadway surface.

(Figure 1)